Art & Literature Magazine

The Department of Medicine & Katherine Swan Ginsburg Humanism in Medicine Program are pleased to present the 2023 edition of Caducean Lights.

The journal is composed of previously unpublished and original submissions of poetry, short fiction, creative nonfiction, photography, and visual art relating to the medical field. The submissions from employees across all departments received were thoughtful, wide-ranging, and demonstrative of the considerable creative talent within our medical center.

THE 'POETIC EXPERIENCE' IN EPISTOLARY ERASURES JINX AND HEAVENLY CALLING

"As a daughter and an artist, I was compelled instinctively to challenge the text of the letters because I knew how the story ends. The poems are what I plucked and shaped as my eyes scanned down the page, spontaneously selecting the words and phrases by instinct, by hunger, by intuition to create what poet Mary Ruefle calls a 'poetic experience.'"

"Congratulations Kelly on this inspired, dynamic, and visually stunning collection. Lusty, vigorous, zestful. It's hard to imagine our parents in the throes of passion, yet jinx and heavenly calling does just that."
